Wes DiMiceli

Senior Engineering Manager @ Bethesda Softworks

Hey there! I'm Wes, a JHU master's student aiming to learn about AI, especially how it can be used to empower creativity. I have a background in economics and a career spent wrestling code into websites.

My daily life tends to be a mashup of logic and chaos. I enjoy solving puzzles; both the cardboard kind and the technical ones. Violin practice, weightlifting, board games, convoluted NYC walks, rainstorm playlists, and cats are a few more of my favorite things. A few I take seriously, but most I take very lightly. ... except dessert. Dessert deserves strong opinions.

Contact

Email: wdimice1@jhu.edu

LinkedIn:

Projects

Module 1:   "Personal Website"

A simple personal website with 3 pages: home, contact, and projects.

Also includes a standard nav menu and responsive styling using a simple small/medium+ breakpoint structure.

GitHub: